Bed Rock Prices.
A Russian Surprise.
30 Million More Hindus.
Study Russia? Good Idea.

MERCHANTS are interested in this:

In Chicago yesterday, Marshall Field & Co., with an advertisement filling three pages, announced prices "considerably less than at the end of the deflated period of 1920-21."

The announcement, called by Marshall Filed a "price centennial," guaranteed every special value advertised at a lower price, not only for quality, than similar merchandise 10 years ago.

Frederick B. Corley, vice president and merchandising manager of Marshall Field, believed that the announcement of the great Chicago firm will act as a spur to buying and benefit trade in all directions.

There is no doubt that merchandise prices have reached the bottom.

HERE IS A CHANGE with a vengeance. Put your hand upon your mouth, as poor old Job said, for you are going to be surprised.

C. W. Gilbert of Washington, who labors for Cyrus H. K. Curtis' newspapers, learns that the United States has changed its mind and believes that the Russian five-year plan will succeed. Furthermore, he says trade relations with Russia are likely to be established and American money lent to Russia to let her government carry on its development program without being compelled to dump products at prices ruinous to the industries and farmers of other nations.

It really looks as though Uncle Sam were coming out of his Rip Van Winkle sleep and Frankenstein nightmare as regards Russia. Talk about putting an embargo on everything Russian is dying out. Perhaps somebody in our intelligent government remembered that Japan and Thibet, once lands of embargoes, didn't do well until they opened their gates. Also, American industry became alarmed when oil men asked an embargo on oil and tobacco men asked an embargo on Sumatra wrappers and copper men said it would be a good idea to keep out all foreign copper.

Circulation of the blood is no more important to the body than the circulation of products to the nations of the world.

IN THE LAST 10 YEARS, India's population has increased 30,000,000, another serious responsibility at the door of Great Britain. Since the British took control of India, its population has more than trebled, going from 100,000,000 to about 340,000,000. Those that dread the results of birth control may be pleased to hear that population in Madras has increased 22 per cent, despite an active birth control society.

India's increase is due to the British, preventing famines, checking plagues with sanitary measures, despite protests by natives, who thought the gods could be appeased by cutting the throats of goats and spilling the blood on the ground.

Britain also has increased Hindu population by preventing marriage of little girls to full grown men, which does not lead to healthy families, and by improving the water supply.

If benevolent agencies, like the British empire in India and the Rockefeller Foundation in China, should succeed in adding a billion or two to the population of Asia,

Divorce By Wire

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., March 11.—The biggest things in legislation nowadays is the different states' race for the divorce business.

Arkansas guarantees a divorce in three months, including room and board.

Nevada heard about it and called a special session of their legislature and says:

"We will give you one in six weeks, and if any other state goes under that time, we will give you a divorce, marriage, and another divorce all for the same time, and price.

"In other words, that's our business. We have built it up to what it is today.

"If there had been no Reno you would still have been living with the same old gal, so remember we are the state that will divorce you, even if we have to do it by telegraph."

Yours,

Will Rogers

Knock That Cold In A Jiffy

Relief Now Almost Before You Know It

If you want quick relief from a cold, go back to first principles and use something you know does the business—don't start "trying" a lot of fancy ideas or remedies. Even a "little" cold is too dangerous to take chances on.

Get Hill's cascara Quinine. A scientific formula made to do ONE THING WELL; to knock a cold in a jiffy, not to cure a hundred different things.

Take two tablets now. Then follow directions on box. Drink lots of water, too—that's all. Soon those mean, aching pains in head and body begin to go; the cold breaks up; poisons leave your system. Almost before you know it, you feel like a new person.

If it doesn't do that, your money back. Get a box now. You'll be surprised at the speed with which it works. Costs only a few cents.

Work upon it will be started in April, according to Mayor Leon Meyer, who has just succeeded in having the architect's plans accepted by the ministry of public works.

The new station is part of the program om improvements projected by the port of Le Havre. It also includes the deepening of the harbor, installation of three new floating docks, bringing all present equipment up to date, and the construction of 1,099 additional meters of piers.

FORT BLISS, Tex.—Sergeant Frank E. Payden, soldier since 1902, was retired here this month after a record probably unique in the United States army. Though in the army without interruption for more than 30 years he was never in combat.

Payden was a lieutenant during the World war but superintended the gathering in Michigan of lumber for airplane manufacture.

He was stationed on the Mexican border with the Seventh Cavalry for many years and also served in the Philippines but never tasted the smoke of battle, he mourns.

CATARRH IS DANGEROUS

Starting From Cold in the Head It May Develop Into Stomach and Bowel or Kidney and Liver Trouble.

CONSUMPTION OFTEN FINDS ITS STARTING POINT IN CHRONIC CATARRH

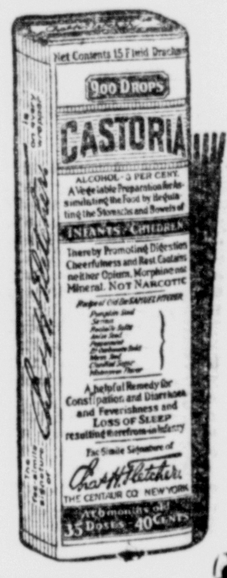
When you have chronic catarrh of the head you will find that no matter what other remedies have failed to give you relief, World's Tonic, the good systemic treatment, will prove a great benefit. Its continued use has given the most astonishing and permanent results in a very short time.

Catarrh of the nose should be treated as soon as it appears, for when neglected it is more than likely to develop into a serious systemic condition.

Catarrh is one of the most disgusting of all diseases. The constant hawking and gulping of the sufferer of catarrh makes him offensive in whatever place he may be located, in home, office or public places. Aside from the annoyance of the constant hawking and swallowing, the terrible offensive breath of the sufferer from chronic catarrh is almost unbearable. World's Tonic is a new systemic treatment to help fight catarrh, that softens, soothes and helps clean the sores in the nose and air passages, quickly eliminates the offensive discharges that contaminate the breath, it attacks the catarrhal poisons that have distributed themselves throughout the system and helps to heal the inflammation these poisons have caused in the mucus membranes, and other parts of the body, and helps to drive the catarrhal discharges out of the system after it has neutralized them and made them harmless.

If you are suffering from any form of catarrh, get a bottle. Sold at Crahan's, Brannan at Wellsville and all other good druggists. (A-128).—Adv.

Can't PLAY
Can't REST
—child needs Castoria



WHEN a child is fretful and irritable, seems distressed and uncomfortable, can't play, can't sleep, it is a pretty sure sign that something is wrong. Right here is where Castoria fits into a child's scheme—the very purpose for which it was formulated years ago! A few drops and the condition which caused the trouble is righted; comfort quickly brings restful sleep.

Nothing can take the place of Castoria for children; it's perfectly harmless, yet always effective. For the protection of your wee one—for your own peace of mind—keep this old reliable preparation always on hand. But don't keep it just for emergencies; let it be an every-day aid. Its gentle action will ease and soothe the infant who cannot sleep. In more liberal doses it will effectively help to regulate sluggish bowels in an older child.

All druggists have Castoria; it's genuine if you see Chas. H. Fletcher's signature and this name-plate:

By Percival Christopher Wren Author of MYSTERIOUS WAYE

BEAU GESTE
BEAU IDEAL

SYNOPSIS: John Waye is a thorn in the flesh to Dr. Charters. Threatening exposure of the doctor's criminal past, the stranger has forced admittance to his nursing home and obtained an alibi for the murder of "Spider" Schlitz. Charters wonders if Waye knows that he robbed Schlitz and Chink Dorson of their shares of the St. Clair diamond haul. To impress the other patients Waye pretends harmless insanity, his startled "Rosemary" being in character when he meets Marjorie Lauderdell, steadily growing worse under treatment at the home. Her aunt, Mrs. Lauderdell, was formerly an associate of Charters' evil days in America. Dr. Charters rejects Dr. MacAdoo's advice to "bump Waye off," realizing Waye's foresight in letting his personal physician know of his whereabouts. He decides, however, to use Waye's pretended delusions as a means of getting him certified as insane and removed to an asylum.

Chapter 8.

DOUBLE-CROSSING

HURRYING along the dark corridor that led from the hall to Dr. MacAdoo's consulting-room, John Waye, encountering the latter gentleman, either accidentally or intentionally, stumbled against him.

"I beg your pardon, my dear Doctor," he said in Portuguese.

"La vao os pes onde quer o coracao" (The feet go where the heart wants them to), growled Dr. McAdoo in reply.

"Oho! We Scots speak Portuguese, do we?" smiled John Waye. 'Now I wonder whether Portuguese is really our native tongue—because we were born and bred and educated in Rio Janeiro, and practiced in Bahia and Santos until we came a nasty cropper, eh?"

"Come in here a minute," growled Dr. McAdoo, leading the way into his consulting-room.

"You're a very clever fellow, aren't you?" he said, turning the key of the door.

"And you know Santos, do you?" smiled Dr. MacAdoo, as he tapped a cigarette.

"I don't know Santos really well. But I know one or two of its exports—coffee, Brazil nuts, and Manoel Machado. Also something of its history and of Manoel's, too."

Dr. Emmanuel MacAdoo's mouth fell open, and himself fell silent.

"Yes, I know why Manoel Machado became an export of Brazil, and how he contrived to get himself upon the list of imports of the United States of America. I even know how Manoel Machado then became an export of the said United States of America. And why it's quite unlikely that he will ever be re-imported."

Dr. Machado's smile evaporated.

"No. He'll stop in England," continued John Waye presently, "forever."

"You even know the future, eh?" temporized Dr. MacAdoo. "And you don't know Santos? But you do know Chicago?"

"Do I, my dear Manoel? I don't remember saying so."

"Look here, what's the game?" blustered Machado. "If it's blackmail, you're wasting your time on me, apart from the fact that I am a Scotsman, and a man of spotlessly blameless life. You can't get blood out of a stone."

"It would be to look for water in a dry well, as we say in Brazil, eh, Mr. Scotsman?" jeered John Waye. "Only a person as mad as I am would do that, what?"

"Quite so," agreed Dr. MacAdoo, "and look here, I'll tell you something," he added quickly. "You want to give the impression that you're mad. Well, you couldn't do it better than by talking as you are now. But if you go up to Sir Bernard and say 'I'm mad,' he'll merely turn to Dr. Charters and say, 'I don't know what this fellow's game is, but he's malingering.' See?"

"Now that's very kind of you, Manoel. But why are you so anxious that I should succeed in persuading Sir Bernard that I am mad?"

"Well, I thought that was the great idea in view of probable unpleasantness consequent upon your recent activities at Witherby End."

Dr. MacAdoo, with an eloquent shrug and an outward motion of the hands, rarely employed by Scotsmen, waived the question.

"I have a kind heart," he said, "and wish to be helpful."

John Waye's laugh expressed more of genuine amusement than of compliment.

"Well, well, Manoel," he said, "one good turn deserves another. I'll give you a piece of useful advice now. I advise you to buy a long spoon.

"Yes, a very long one, for you're certainly supping with the Devil—and his name is Charters, at the moment. And you'll shortly want a friend, indeed, Manoel."

"A friend?"

"Yes, for you'll be in the very gravest need."

"Now that's very kind of you, Waye. But why are you so very anxious on my account?"

"To quote yourself, I have a kind heart, and wish to be hepiful," John Waye assured him.

"Now you think over what I have said," he added, "and grasp the fact that Charters is double-crossing you. Has he told you what I really went to Witherby End for? What I went there to get? Has he told you about Chink Dorson, Spider Schlitz, and himself, and the colossal fortune? Has he told you who 'Mr. James' is? Has he let you in on everything? What does he pay you? Why, man, you ought to be making thousands. And pretty soon, too. The game's nearly up. And another thing. Do you know what he's going to make out of the Marjorie Lauderdell business? What share is he giving you for that job, by the way?"

"Sst!" hissed Dr. MacAdoo, springing to his feet. "Hush. What do you mean by 'What's he going to make out of the Marjorie Lauderdell business?"

"Just what I say. And I asked what he is giving you for doing it? And, I might add—what are you giving her?"

Dr. MacAdoo sat down again limply.

"Who are you?" he whispered. "A dick?"

"Would you turn King's evidence, if I were?" asked John Waye.

Dr. MacAdoo's face was a study, in its mingled and changing expressions of bewilderment, shrewdness, fear, hope, and, finally, relief.

"No. You aren't a cop. You killed Spider Schlitz," he said, "and got in here and announced it before it was discovered. What do you mean about Marjorie Lauderdell? Look here. Let's put our cards on the table. You tell me who you are, and all you know, and what you're after. And I'll come across."

"On your word of honor?"

"On my sacred word of honor."

(Copyright, 1930, Frederick A. Stokes Co.)

Tomorrow Waye looks for a lost snake—but pays a nocturnal call on Mr. James instead!

MacAdoo growled when Waye stumbled against him.

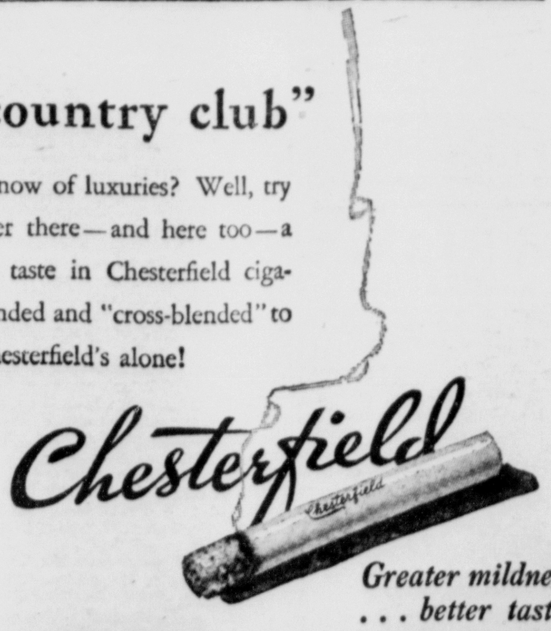
What do the grim watchdogs of the desert know of luxuries? Well, try to take their Chesterfields away from them! Over there—and here too—a good cigarette means good tobaccos. What you taste in Chesterfield cigarettes is milder and better tobaccos—nothing else—blended and "cross-blended" to produce a satisfying fragrance, a flavor which is Chesterfield's alone!



Greater mildness . . . better taste!

FOR NINETEEN years, our Research Department has kept intimate touch with every new development of Science that could be applied to the manufacture of cigarettes. During this period there has been no development of tested value or importance to the smoker which we have not incorporated into the making of Chesterfield cigarettes.

Operate the Y. & O. Road.

The fate of the Youngstown & Ohio River railroad rests in the hands of the business interests and the residents of the territory along the 38-mile line between East Liverpool and Salem.

Whether the 23-year-old passenger and freight carrier shall be abandoned or service continued depends upon the patronage given during the next 30 days, according to General Manager J. D. Deweese, who, as receiver, sold the company at public auction to Briggs & Turavis, Inc., of Chicago.

Under a journal entry approved in the Columbiana county common pleas court when Judge W. F. Lones confirmed the receiver's report, the purchasers are permitted to discontinue service and abandon the road within the next 30 days. However, the new owners intend to operate on trial in order to determine whether it can be done at a profit.

The 30-day test shall determine whether the Y. & O. can compete against motor coaches and transports and private automobiles which have made great inroads into the carrier's revenue during the last five years. If the road cannot operate at a profit, abandonment of part of the service, probably the passenger branch, is expected.

East Liverpool, West Point, Lisbon, Leetonia, Salem and other cities, villages and rural communities, which are dependent upon the road for interurban service in Columbiana county, cannot afford to lose the Y. & O. Every effort should be made to convince the management that patronage will be forthcoming.

The "Progressive" Method

Apprehension that the fruits of the progressive conference to be held in Washington today may be sour to the taste of regular politicians is well grounded. The political history of America indicates that the progressives have chosen the most effective line of approach to gain their end, in opposition to the major parties.

Senator Norris, the essence of the Insurgent-Progressive movement, has taken the trouble to emphasize that there is no idea of forming a third party involved. A needless precaution, as far as those familiar with political history are concerned, since the only third party that ever maintained itself in the United States is the Republican party which succeeded by virtue of a Democratic split. Though it won the election of 1860 with Abraham Lincoln as its candidate, Lincoln received but 40 per cent of the popular vote. Senator Norris, realizing the perils, would choose his time and circumstances well before he attempted to launch a third party.

Groups formed within the two major parties frequently have achieved eminent success. The Anti-Saloon league, organized in 1895, helped the dry cause far more than the Prohibition party, organized in 1869. Likewise, the farm bloc, which boasted almost one quarter of the senate membership at one time, was able to shove its legislative program through almost at will, gaining extension of rural credits, exemption of agricultural cooperatives from the anti-trust laws, and emergency tariffs on farm products in advance of general tariff revisions.

Still standing as challenges to Senator Norris' power as a legislator are his proposal to abolish "lame duck" sessions of congress, and the idle equipment at Muscle Shoals, which the senator would have the government use as a "yardstick" to control public utility electrical power rates. Both failed of settlement during the life of the 71st congress. If the "method" he and his fellow Progressives are adopting works as well as it has previously, the next session of congress will be working under a powerful new influence.

The Old Ideas

A wide span separates Thomas A. Edison's inventive genius from his personal philosophy. The former is, one may say, considerably ahead of its time. The latter, quite naturally since it was formulated half a century ago, includes many sound, old-fashioned ideas. The effect, fortunately for America, has been to balance Mr. Edison's brilliance with caution.

For instance, Mr. Edison believes that "haste makes waste," which is not at all a common belief today. He observes that a great many devices are being placed on the market as soon as they are developed to the point of having sales values, but long before they have been perfected to the point where thy can be made no better. Examples are legion, dozens of them lying in the scope of every individual's experience. Household appliances that only are half effective, machines whose paid depreciation makes them a liability, automobiles slammed together carelessly to "keep up with the belt"—a thousand things each one taking its toll from the public pocketbook and reflecting discredit on manufacturers and inventors. Thomas A. Edison's inventions weren't marketed that way, though some of them might have been.

Man's confidence that he can abrogate certain of the sound old proverbs is amusing, unless carried to the point of distress. Haste always will make waste, rolling stones never will gather a maximum of moss, early birds will continue to get the worms, and the longest way 'round often will be the shortest way home. It requires the wisdom of an Edison to recall them to the forgetful public occasionally.

Getting Acquainted

America's keen interest in the Russian Soviet may be measured by the number of newspaper and magazine articles on that subject. Everything about Russia is of interest, because every new fact opens up another comparison with the United States. The spectacular attempt to attain a better economic habilitation through mass production and state planning is a ringing challenge to America. There is common feeling that if the soviet ideal be attained a spirited contest for possession of world markets will ensue, with a low standard of living in Russia threatening America's jealously guarded high standards.

So concrete has become the dread of what communism may do with an armed minority controlling an unarmed majority that the state department of the United States is to retain an assistant secretary of state, yet unnamed, who has made a study of the Russian situation and its international complexities. Thus, the process of "getting acquainted" will become official. The tentative, and often tactless, approaches that have been made in the past will be direct and deliberate. Though the state department insists it has no intention of recognizing Russia officially, it is frankly curious about Russian affairs.

There are, in this plan, resemblances to the common procedure of "placing" new families in American neighborhoods.

The former family in the "Russian" house moved away suddenly. It was none too popular anyway, and left a considerable unpaid debt behind it. The new family, distantly related to its predecessor, has been acting very strangely, doing many unpopular and unethical things repugnant to long-established neighborhood customs. They are most unpopular and, worst of all, refuse point blank to do anything about their relatives' debts.

That's the way they are regarded in family councils, at any rate. Downtown their business members transact deals with their neighbors to mutual advantages and everyone is cordial enough. 583 children have been at play together, but of course social recognition is another matter. Until more is known, the wise course seems to be to hold aloof and keep close watch. One can't be too careful about making the first advances, particularly when the "other family" does so many provoking and unconventional things.

If a widow has no life insurance, relatives resent her poverty. If she has, they resent the way she spends it.

Rolling Along.

The modern world rides to its triumphs and waterloos in motor cars. They are a necessity, more so in many cases than food and homes.

The census bureau's statistics on automobile financing, released recently, reveal many interesting things about America's management of its family cars.

In 1930, for instance, automobile sales began to increase in November instead of the following January, due to some extent to the appearance of a new model of a popular light car at the close of one year rather than at the beginning of the following year. Incidentally, sales of the car referred to, and of its chief competitor, represented approximately 63 per cent of total automobile purchases in 1930.

Registrations followed the same trend, though the increase was not so great as that for financing new cars. Registrations increased from 93,066 in November to 96,054 in December—a gain of 2,988—while 7,226 more new cars were financed during December than in November, and 7,806 more used and unclassified cars were purchased. A part of this discrepancy is accounted for by the fact that many purchasers arranged for cars to be delivered to them a month or more after the date of sale.

Automobile purchases in 1930 amounted to $661,525,941, as compared with $687,891,246 in 1929. The figure for December, however, was $14,601,356 higher than that for the same month in 1929.

Production for 1929, including cars exported, was 2,805,413 cars, with exports estimated at 243,000. Registrations in the United States totaled 2,626,068 cars, which was about 64,000 more than the production. The excess of registrations represented cars on dealers' hands at the beginning of the year.

The total outstanding indebtedness owed by instalment purchasers of automobiles declined during 1930, but there was only a slight increase in the number of cars repossessed by finance companies. Replacements are said to have fallen greatly past the mark of previous years; new production, consequently, must meet the demand from those whose cars have been worn out. This is the reason given for the estimated production of 183,876 new cars for January. During the present month it is estimated 210,000 cars will be produced.

Depression or not, America is rolling along.

Education pays. Think of the poor fellow who thought the month after July was spelled "Orgust" and died of eating oysters.

MEDICAL EDUCATION IN 1826.

By J. H. Galbraith,

For the Associated Press.

An account of the commencement exercises of the Ohio Medical college at Cincinnati on March 14, 1826, as given in the old Cincinnati Gazette (weekly), throws a sidelight on the education of that day. Seventeen regular medical degrees were granted and two honorary degrees. The names of the graduates and the subjects of their themes are given thus:

Charles V. Barbour, Cincinnati, "The Medical Topography of Louisville." Alfred Beardsley, Decatur, Ohio, "Empiricism." William B. Chamberlain, Switzerland county, Indiana, "Gastritis." John E. Bush, Cincinnati, "Dyspepsia." Joseph F. Cliff, Wooster, "Injurious Effects of the Use of Ardent Spirits." Jacob B. Drake, Greenville, Ill., "Malarious Fever." Aaron T. Hendricks, Milford, Ohio, "The Stomach As the Preliminary Seat of Most Disease." Joseph Johnson, Xenia, "The Physiology of the Stomach." James T. Johnson, Cincinnati, "Autumnal Fevers in the Western Country." Joshua Mills, Cincinnati, "Hepatitis." N. P. S. Prentice, Portland, Maine, "Diseases of the Antrim Maxillaire." John G. Rogers, New Richmond, Ohio, "Dysentary." Melancthon Rogers, Cincinnati, "Ephemera Puerpalis." Neal Rowell, Covington, Ky., "Endemial Sick Stomach," and Hiram Todd, Fort Wayne, Ind., "Identity of Gonorrheal and Syphilitic Matters."

More change from the medical ideas of that day to those of today would probably appear in the treatment of the subjects discussed by the graduates than is suggested in the titles of the papers.

The honorary degrees were presented to John Sellman, Cincinnati, and Alexander Campbell, Ripley, Ohio. Nothing is said as to why they were thus honored, but they were probably in practice without having taken a full medical course, and meeting success that was seemed warrant for thus recognizing them.

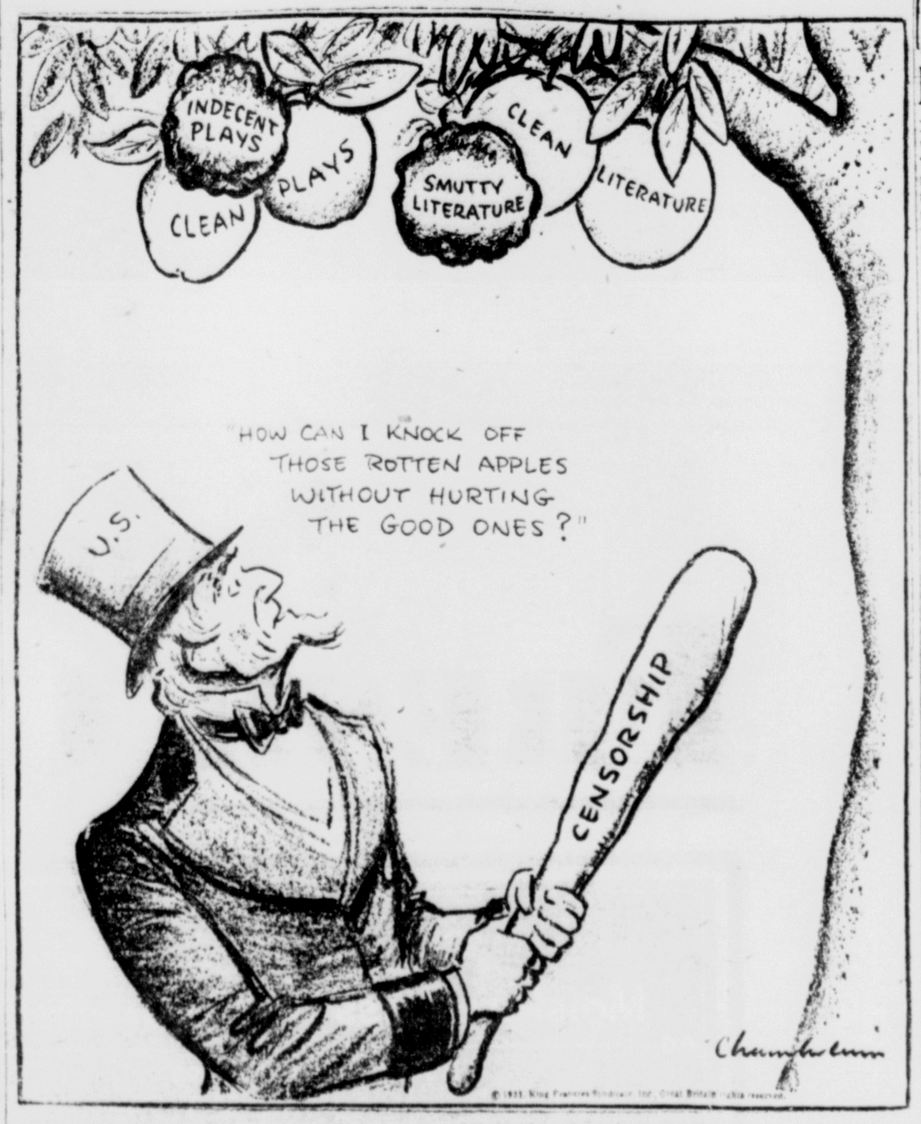
THE TROUBLE WITH CENSORSHIP



New York Day By Day

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, March 11. — New York debutantes are no longer the carefully sheltered hot-house flowers. Nor coy maids with cast eyes so demurely down. They have been places and seen things long before their official "coming out" party. And enter the room with a whoop.

Formerly nothing more potent than claret lemonade was served at a debut. Today they are likely to start festivities with "side cars." Indeed, there is a story that at one affair this winter a slightly weaving and bleary debbie could only mumble her greetings.

The new democratization does not apply solely to the debbie, for society itself as an institution has lost much of its snobbishness. There is no longer a social bell cow. The carefully selected Four Hundred is way up in the thousands and growing.

At the most exclusive function there is usually a sprinkling of stage and screen stars along with the latest illicit caper cutting Don Juan. Many rich society boys carry around their court jesters who go into their clowning when things become a little dull.

The best man at the wedding of a rich society youth recently was a writer of humor and the bridesmaid was a comedienne in a musical comedy. Smart social dinners are not always given in de luxe cafes, but often in some popular side street speakeasy.

The most successful bal masque of the winter was sponsored by Vera Maxwell, a sort of female Harry Lehr, whose bubbling conviviality is so well known around the cocktail room of the Paris Ritz and along the French and Italian Rivieras. Miss Maxwell is not in the Social Register.

Once upon a time the stateliest and most exclusive dinners were given by such elegants as Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt and Mrs. William Waldorf Astor. Then, too, there was the widely heralded Bradley Martin Ball. Such stiff affairs are no longer favored. Society considers them deadly monotonous.

Anna May Wong, the Chinese actress, is becoming one of the Broadway toasts, adding the touch Orientale and a tinkling laugh to the gathering of sophisticates. Miss Wong is reputedly adept at the smart retort and her evening gowns cause many heads to turn.

Floyd Gibbons' immaculate white eye patch is not a forced symbol of his courage in action. He would have long ago substituted a glass eye for the one he lost at Chateau Thierry had it not been the lower lid was shot away.

In a cafe today a cigarette smoking flapper yelled to a passing boy friend: "You are a fine piece of zero standing me up last night. You are a bum and that's in italics."

Bugs Baer started out a sport page artist and became one of the keenest paragraphers. His life otherwise is a clutter of contradictions. He scarcely ever reads periodicals devoted to his meter—humor. Insteads he reads heavy classical tomes. While frequently seen where kilowatts are thickest, he is as often seen in the stately gloom of museums and art galleries. He can discuss Lucius Sergius Cataline, Lola Montez or Mahomet as informally as he can discuss Ted Healy, Jimmy Durante or Tex Guinan. Like most humorists, his expression is dour, but he knows how to laugh at the other fellow's joke. And when he laughs he roars.

Ice skating has never been an uncontrollable passion. In fact any one wanting my skates, used twice, can make a trade almost any day up to 3 o'clock p. m., by any of the various times. Yet ice skating grows in popularity yearly in New York. New rinks spring up daily with waiting lines and an invention now makes it possible to flood a room in any home and have ice skating as quickly as tea is brewed. Incidentally, until coming to New York I had the fixed idea the Winter Garden was a skating rink.

From an editorial: "Nine out of ten happy people fairly breathe a perfume of joyousness, but the tenth is likely to be tight-lipped." Maybe No. 10 has halitosis.

How To Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

VARIOUS names have been substituted for the old-fashioned word, "ringworm." Most of them mean nothing, even to the doctor, but all are applied to the one condition. Among these are, "athlete's foot," and "dhobie itch." "Dermatophytosis," is another big word used for ringworm.

Ringworm used to be quite prevalent in the Southern part of the United States. This was because of the habit of some of the population had of walking without shoes.

The disease is caused by a parasite called the "trichopohyton fungus." This parasite is found in grass, shrubs and at times even indoors. The ailment is frequently transmitted to man by domestic animals, particularly by dogs and cats.

The disease begins as one or two rounded red patches of the skin. They may be located on the face, neck, arms, body or feet. Within a few days these patches assume a circular shape, with small pimples along the outer border of the circle. These patches are easily recognized because of their ring-like shape.

After the disease has continued for some time, healing begins in the center of the patch. The healing process extends to the edges.

Though there is rarely any itching or pain, the eruption spreads rapidly. Sometimes it involves the thighs, groins and other parts of the body.

The disease may be spread in the locker and dressing rooms of gymnasiums, in swimming pools and beaches and often by walking on the floors of private homes. In order to safeguard against this ailment, I advise that you always wear some kind of foot covering. Do not walk about with unprotected feet.

Since the condition is caused by a parasite or germ, the treatment consists in using ointments and lotions which are capable of killing the infecting agent without damage to the skin. Your doctor will tell you about the local treatment, but very likely he will prescribe something containing ammoniated mercury.

Ringworm is a particularly embarrassing condition when it attacks the hairy scalp. In such cases the X-ray and other radical methods of cure have been applied with more or less success.

Whenever one member of the family is afflicted, it is extremely important to protect the others against infection. It is readily passed from one to another.

An extremely disagreeable form of the disease is ringworm of the finger nails. It is stubborn and strongly resists treatment.

The Reviewing Stand

By TOM T. JONES.

FROM far away India comes the assertion from the Rev. and Mrs. Jay Holmes Smith, the latter being the former Miss Sylvia Shay of the Northside, that "The Reviewing Stand" is being regularly read by them following their arrival and settling down to their work at Jubbelpore. There at "Rest Camp Road" on February 6 they indited a news-letter to their friends in America, the above notation coming in the form of a footnote with an added personal greeting with memories of days spent in East Liverpool as the pastor of the Anderson church on West Ninth street.

In this general letter is given a description of their initial Christmas festivities in the mystic land now so much in the public news by reason of the getting together of Great Britain and Gandhi, who has for several weeks been released from a long imprisonment. It began with the students of the college in which he is teaching holding a "Christi Jayanti" in the City hall auditorium. That is it was under their auspices. A leading non-Christian judge presided. He bore evidence of the influence of a Christian school which he had attended. A prominent Hindu and Mohammedan paid a glowing tribute to Christ in their addresses. After listening to the latter the Rev. Mr. Smith wondered what he could say of his own prophet to justify his remaining a Mohammedan.

The climax of the meeting was reached when Bishop McConnell of the New York area and formerly of Pittsburgh, who has been heard in East Liverpool, portrayed Christianity as he viewed it. He was accompanied by his daughter and Mrs. McConnell. He has been in India giving the celebrated Barrows lectures. With the McConnells and the other missionaries they enjoyed at the Johnson High school, the largest in India, a Christmas Eve dinner at the conclusion of the City hall meeting.

The Christmas day in India dawned bright and clear. It was doubly notable for the little East Liverpool family of three in India in that it was the first they had experienced in India and it was also the first of all for their little daughter Kathleen. "Old Santa had not forgotten us though he came by boat instead of snow," Rev. Smith wrote. "Kathleen was the recipient of many dollars and toys which she has in days thereafter been keenly enjoying."

THE McConnells and Dr. and Mrs. Parker, principal of the Jubbiepore school, were breakfast guests of Rev. and Mrs. Smith. Then they all want to see a throng of Indian Christians in church on Christmas day, "an unforgettable sight." The later college Christmas dinner was enjoyed upon the lawn of their compound. There was a Christmas tree with Mrs. McConnell handing out the gifts. And the weather was so hot they were all glad to find shade.

On December 26 the men entrained for Gawnpore, the seat of the Central Conference for India and Burma. They had to take their bedding roll. They slept upon the station floor at Allahabad. The next morning they surveyed the famous Agricultural institute there, founded and sustained by Samuel Higginbotham of the Presbyterian church in America. "In a land so very backward agriculturally it is a Mecca," observed the Rev. Smith.

About two-thirds of the membership of the Cawnpore conference were Indians. It was a smaller edition of the General Conference. The Bishops alternated in presiding. Dr. R. E. Diffendorfer, secretary of the Methodist Board of Foreign Missions, was also there. The conference elected Dr. J. R. Chitamba, then Principal of the Lucknow Christian college, as the first Indian Methodist bishop. There were movements toward unity with other church bodies "that seems to spell a way toward united Christendom," Rev. Mr. Smith noted.

Dr. Stanley Jones, who also has spoken in East Liverpool, spoke for the conference apparently when he said that "by presenting the dynamics of the central message of the Gospel we are contributing far more to the uplift of India than could be done by direct political participation." This seemed the pronouncement of the attitude of the church towards the nationalistic passion now rapidly welding together the people of the land and of which so much is written in the daily press.

EFFORTS were made towards the end of apparently hastening the development of Indian leadership, at the conference. A committee of ten Indians was named to consider some of the details incident to the movement in that direction. "It must not be assumed, however, that the task is about finished for it is hardly begun," Rev. Smith notes.

A distinct school of religious education for all India in connection with the Jubbelpore college will be organized in about a year as the result of decision at the conference. "Jubbelpore is becoming recognized as quite a center in the life of the church of India," Rev. Smith stated. The newly elected Bishop Chitambar is to have his residence at Jubbelpore. A bungalow is being prepared for him and his family. Rev. Smith said he happened to "recently cycle" about it.

The spiritual atmosphere of the conference stood out and surpassed any that Rev. Mr. Smith had ever attended in America, he said. It was agreed to have Dr. Stanley Jones and Mr. Mukerjee negotiate with other denominations for an India-wide campaign of evangelization. It is planned to have the sweep of the Million Souls Movement led by Kagawa in Japan. "It is great to be in India in these meaningful days, and scarcely less wonderful to be privileged to invest your prayers and money in this enterprise," Rev. Mr. Smith commented.

Returning a day before the conference ended, accompanied by Professor Harper and S. K. Mondol, who a year ago married an American missionary, "Miss Ahiba," Rev. Mr. Smith noted that the latter had been demoted by former Bishop Fisher and sent from Calcutta to a village. He said he seemed a most admirable man and that both liked their "place of exile." But he also observed that Bishop Robinson at a recent meeting of the Belgal conference had appointed him district superintendent.

Dr. Diffendorfer later visited Jubbelpore as did Dr. Oscar M. Euck of Drew seminary, a former teacher of Rev. Smith. He was accompanied by Dr. William Adam Brown of Union seminary. Both are members of the commission on Christian higher education in India. "It was great to have as our guest the one who has meant so much to my life and has been largely responsible for our being in this place of paramount opportunity," Rev. Smith said.

JUST before he wrote his letter to America the Rev. Smith addressed four hundred professors, students and friends at the anniversary of the Philosophical Society of Robertson college. Almost all were non-Christians, he indicated. He spoke on "Lovers of Truth." "It was a subject which, I think, enabled me to do more good in preparing the ground for an evangelistic appeal later on than an out and out 'evangelistic message' would have done," he said.

He told of having baptized a few weeks previously a man whom he considered "a potential Paul." He said that he had been brought up a Mohammedan, got his B Sc., became an Arya Samajist, was at the head of two training schools and "was finally led by the spiritual hunger to Christ." In describing him the Rev. Smith said: "He is a deep thinker, and has the Sanskrit and Arabic Scriptures at his tongue's-tip. He lives a very simple life, although he has means. We have been keeping the Morning Watch together, and it has greatly inspired me.

He said also the Krishna Swa[illegible] editor of "Satya" (Truth), a daily paper published at Jubbelpore had called upon him several times. He feels that the testimony given him has affected him. Accordingly he is desirous of prayers for him and himself by Christians in this country.

"I believe there is a real spiritual awakening around the corner for our college," he notes. "By prayer you can invest in this enterprise also," he averred. He says that the school is just now opening an admirable reading room and evangelistic center in the heart of the city. In this manner the effort is being made to appeal to the more thoughtful classes in the city.

CATS ATTRACTED BY FISH SCENT

By The United Press.

SEATTLE—"My husband went fishing and brought home a bunch of cats; please come and get them," asked Mrs. P. L. Trisnew of the city pound manager.

Asked to explain Mrs. Trisnew said that her husband had caught a large steelhead (trout) and had been so proud of it that he carried it by the gills as he walked home. The tail dragged along the walk and left a scent that was followed by all the cats in the neighborhood. So her yard was filled with cats.

Before the pound management could act, however, some dogs came along and there was a general exodus of cats.

INDIANA YOUTH GETS "LIFE" IN GIRL'S DEATH

Football Hero Found Guilty of Killing Sweetheart.

By International News Service.

VALPARAISO, Ind., March 11.—Virgil Kirkland, the debonair Gary high school hero found guilty of the ravishment and murder of his 18-year-old sweetheart, Arlene Draves, resigned himself today to life imprisonment at Michigan state penitentiary.

The farmer jury which for more than two weeks has heard the details of the young people's liquor orgy, which resulted in the Draves girl's death, found Kirkland guilty of murder in the first degree last night. Kirkland's punishment was set at life imprisonment, the term to begin next Monday when sentence is formally pronounced. The prosecution had demanded death in the electric chair.

Three hours of deliberation were required before the jurors reached their verdict. A crowded courtroom, openly hostile to the jaunty defendant throughout the trial, heard the verdict at 8:40 p. m.

Kirkland's face wore a dazed expression as the verdict was read by Judge Grant Crumpacker. An awesome silence hung over the courtroom for several minutes after the verdict had been pronounced.

The defendant's mother, seated directly behind him, fell in a faint as Judge Crumpacker read the words "guilty of murder in the first degree."

Charles Draves, father of the dead girl, showed no visable signs of emotion when the jury's decision was announced. Seated beside his three sons at the prosecutor's table he stared blankly ahead.

Please examine it carefully. It is an unfailing guide to cigarette selection and enjoyment.

As you can quickly see by the three upper curves on this interesting chart, cigarettes that lack the protection of the Humidor Pack lose their moisture rapidly from the day they are manufactured.

And day by day as this moisture disappears, the smoke from these cigarettes becomes harsher, hotter, more unkind to the smoker's throat.

Not so with Camels!

The Humidor Pack is moisture proof and sealed air-tight at every point. It protects the rich, flavorful aroma of the choice Turkish and Domestic tobaccos of which Camels are blended.

Make these tests yourself

It is so easy to tell the difference between parched dry cigarettes and fresh prime Camels that it is no wonder everybody is reaching for a fresh cigarette today.

Your fingers identify stale, dried-out tobaccos at once. While a Camel is flexible and pliant.

Your ears can tell the difference too. For a dust-dry cigarette crackles under pressure.

But the real test is taste and there is simply no comparison between the rich mildness of a Camel and the hot, brackish smoke from a stale, dry cigarette.

Switch to Camels just for today then leave them tomorrow if you can.

R. J. REYNOLDS TOBACCO COMPANY, Winston-Salem, N. C.

CAMELS

Artificial heat in houses and apartments soon dries the moisture out of cigarettes wrapped the old fashioned way. It is the mark of a considerate hostess, by means of the Humidor Pack, to "Serve a fresh cigarette." Buy Camels by the carton — this cigarette will remain fresh in your home and office.

Gassy Stomachs Made Well

Every person who is troubled with gas in the stomach and bowels should get a package of Baalmann's Gas Tablets and see how quickly they will relieve all distressing symptoms.

Sharp pains in the abdomen or about the heart are often due entirely to gas pressure. Sometimes the circulation is restricted, causing the hands and feet to grow numb. Usually there is much gurgling or rumbling in the bowels. Many sufferers complain of a gnawing feeling in the stomach, extreme nervousness, heartburn, drowsiness after eating, headaches, dizzy spells or labored breathing.

Baalmann's Gas Tablets taken at meal time not only prevent all bad effects from gas, but they invigorate the weak nerves of the stomach and assist in restoring the whole digestive system to proper working order.

Genuine Baalmann's Gas Tablets—in the yellow package—can be obtained at any good drug store. Price $1 everywhere.

THE WEATHER CHANGES

NOT YOUR MOTOR

A Winter Oil, therefore, Should Make Starting as Easy as Possible ✣ ✣ but You Cannot Sacrifice any Lubricating Ability In Order to Do So ✣ ✣ ✣

STERLING Winter Grade Motor Oil is the same, full bodied 100% Pure Pennsylvania lubricant that you found so kind to your motor during the summer months just passed.

But the weather has changed. Cold mornings will try to turn it into slow motion molasses. If they should succeed starting would be a problem.

But Sterling Oil . . . in its winter grade . . . has been reduced in its cold test so that it is immune to the stiffening effects of low temperature. A few turns of the motor and this winter grade will circulate freely.

This has been done to take care of those few seconds of starting. After that the same pure lubrication . . . the same piston seal, the same heat and friction resistance are as strong in this winter grade as in the regular Sterling Motor Oil you have been using.

APRIL 3 DATE FOR ASSEMBLY RECESS URGED

Calendar Committee Asked in Each House.

By The Associated Press.

COLUMBUS, O., March 11.—Republican majority leaders in the Ohio general assembly today were preparing to establish a calendar committee in each branch for the expediting of legislation so that a recess may be called April 3.

Senator Earl R. Lewis of Belmont county, leader in the senate, and Speaker Arthur Hamilton and Floor Leader Lester J. Abele, Cleveland, of the house, discussed the proposals last night but said they had reached no agreement as to procedure.

The Democratic minority of the house held a caucus following yesterday's session and decided to request equal representation with the majority on any calendar committee that might be selected in the house.

Democratic senators demanded similar recognition last week. It was understood the proposal in the senate was at a standstill until some means of circumventing the demands could be made.

J. Freer Bittinger, Ashland, house minority leader, said he was in favor of a recess April 3, and preceding the caucus expressed satisfaction on a proposal to give the Republicans four members and the Democrats three on the calendar committee.

Formation of calendar committees is necessary if either branch is to complete its work within the proposed limitation. The calendar committees would be charged with the task of deciding what legislation should come before the assembly for its approval or rejection.

The purpose of the proposed recess, April 3, is to permit the special joint taxation committee to reach its conclusions on legislation needed for enforcement of the classification tax amendment adopted by the voters in November, 1929.

The session following the recess, leaders said, would be devoted exclusively to taxation and the appropriation bills for the next two years of operation of the state government.

STIMSON AID IS DEAD AFTER OPERATIONS

Joseph Potter Cotton Succumbs in Baltimore.

By The Associated Press.

BALTIMORE, March 11.—Ending a career that was unique in the fields of diplomacy, law and finance, Joseph Potter Cotton died here yesterday after having undergone two major operations in six weeks.

He was regarded as one of the keenest men ever drafted into government service, working as undersecretary of state in a manner that brought him praise from all.

Last summer, Cotton took a leave of absence in an effort to rebuild his vitality. A tonsillotomy failed to give desired results and last January he underwent an operation for spinal infection. On February 16 his right eye was removed, but the end could not be forestalled.

With him when he died in Johns Hopkins hospital were his wife, his daughter, Isabel, and his New York law partner, George S. Franklin. He had been visited by his chief, Secretary Stimson, and the White House physician, Dr. Joel T. Boone.

Born at Newport, Rhode Island, July 22, 1875, Cotton graduated from the Harvard law school 25 years later.

A friend of President Hoover because of his work with the chief executive when the latter was food administrator, he was appointed undersecretary of state in May of 1929. He was an easily approached, indefatigable worker, using his background to decide moot questions without lengthy deliberation.

In Washington President Hoover saw the death as a "great loss to the government and to our country." Secretary Stimson said Cotton had "rendered service of literally inestimable value."

In his sermon Tuesday night he pointed out some of the reasons for coming to Jesus and emphasized the benefits and blessings of a Christian religion.

He said in part:

"The reasons for giving our hearts and lives to Christ, and the benefits to be derived from so doing, are too numerous to name. Some of the most important reasons are that we must look after our personal interests and welfare, which includes preparing for the future beyond the grave.

"We must also care for those who love and depend upon us and must set them the proper example. We should come to Him for the glory of God.

"In this world, anticipation is greater than realization and pursuit gives greater pleasure than possession. But the ever-seeking and never-satisfied soul may find real satisfaction comfort in Christ. True religion is the only fountain of perpetual youth."

MIDLAND — Thirty-two Midland reservations have been made for the testimonial banquet and reception in honor of National Commander Ralph O'Neil of Topeka, Kas., which will be held at 6:30 tonight in the Scottish Rite cathedral in New Castle, by the Twenty-sixth district, Pennsylvania American Legion.

Approximately 2,000 Legionnaires and their wives from the district, which includes Beaver, Butler and Lawrence counties, and the several posts in the Pittsburgh territory, have made reservations.

Since O'Neil has had to cancel other engagements in Pennsylvania because of illness, tonight's appearance will probably be the only one in the state this year.

The program will include addresses by O'Neil and Charles J. Engard of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania state commander, and John A. Elden of Cleveland, Ohio commander.

Music will be in charge of the drum and bugle corps of the Colonel Joseph H. Thompson post of Beaver Falls, and the Ellwood City, Sharon and Slippery Rock posts. Dancing in the main ballroom will conclude the reception.

"TWO SUPPERS" DISCUSSED BY REV. SHADDUCK

Minister to Talk to Unemployed Tonight.

"It is never pleasant to sit down to dine with any person one has wronged and if Christ has been mistreated by those planning to eat with Him in the feast of the Lamb the church will be in a sorry condition," urged Rev. B. H. Shadduck of Rogers in a sermon upon "The Two Suppers" at the First Methodist Episcopal church on West Fifth and Jackson streets Tuesday night.

"If your tastes are for the singing of 'something quick and devilish' here how can you indulge with Him in celestial singing then?" he inquired. "If your tastes now are for literary froth and foam how can you then enjoy God's standard of declaration. You can easily decide now whether you will like the menu at the feast of the Lamb and the church by realizing what you do in your leisure moments. Does it square with God's known taste?"

Impressed with the knowledge that many connected with them are without God's fold a large number of those present gathered about the altar at the conclusion of the sermon and engaged in prayer. Rev. Mr. Shadduck and Rev. A. H. O'Brien, pastor of the First Baptist church, led in the invocations.

Rev. Warren O. Hawkins, the pastor, made the opening prayer following a period of song by an augmented choir and the congregation, directed by Rev. C. R. Loney. The former sang "All Hail Immanuel."

A large attendance is anticipated tonight when men out of work are expected to attend. Rev. Mr. Shadduck, who has had experience of some 13 years as a social worker, will speak upon the subject "If We Knew Our Friends." At the afternoon service he spoke upon the twenty-third Psalm and answered some questions that have been mailed him.

On Thursday night members of the Asbury Bible class, 50 strong, will occupy the choir loft and lead the singing. Members of Class 23 of the Sunday school, all women, were present in a body at last night's service.

"We are living in a world filled with evil which fact the sooner it is realized the better all concerned will be," Rev. Mr. Shadduck declared. "Investigation will disclose as many severities in existence noted in the New Testament as in the Old. There are constantly before us in this life two kinds of life, two kings and two kingdoms.

"The feast of the Lamb, the Christ, and the church, the redeemed of the earth, who are to be His bride will be one that can only be enjoyed by those liking the food which He will serve and likes. One's taste is revealed by that which one does in this life.

"Whether the redeemed can be happy realizing that some of their loved ones are lost may be partially indicated by whether one can be happy in this life with such a knowledge.

"What part of your life are you giving to Christ." Does He get the best or just the leavings of it? Do you give Him, figuratively speaking, the skim milk while you feed yourself cream? Do you eat genuine butter and serve Him oleomargarine? Only the person who has learned to love the things God loves and hate the things He hates can really be happy and enjoy the feast that then will take place."

CLUBS OPPOSE QUAIL BILL IN STATE SENATE

Campaign Started to "Save Bob White."

Opposition to house bill No. 412 which removes quail from song bird list, making it a target for every hunter in the state, has been expressed by the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs, with which the City Federation of Women Clubs is affiliated.

A campaign against the proposal has been launched by the Division of Conservation of which Mrs. Paul N. Geiger of Massillon is chairman. Mrs. M. D. McCutcheon, of East Liverpool, is chairman of the middleast section on the conservation committee and is directing the campaign here.

Womens clubs throughout the state have been asked to go on record against this bill. The club leaders are urged to write to members of the Ohio senate and house asking that they use their votes and influence to defeat the measure.

The women's club through the Wild Life and Conservation committees have adopted the slogan "Save Bob White" in the campaign.

Prof. E. L. Moseley of the state normal school at Bowling Green is quoted as saying that "where Bob Whites are numerous a person would have to search through a potato patch for more than 10 minutes to find as many beetles as may be found elsewhere on a single vine." He adds that "where these birds are numerous they render a greater service to the farmer than any other species of wild bird."

YOUNG RUDY GETS EDGE OVER RAY LYLE

Guthrie's Foe Fails To Come

Akron Youngster Gives Charleroi Vet Great Battle Here.

By ROBERT ELLIOTT, Sports Editor, The Review.

If Freddy Edwards and Young Rudy meet here in the near future, and there's every reason to believe they will, our money is going down on the barber. Why? Because this Rudy gentleman, whom it had never been our privilege to see in action before, was a very big disappointment last night at the Eagles hall, as he won a close, yes a very close decision over Ray Lyle, a willing but slightly unexperienced youngster from Akron.

Their scrap went ten stanzas and only now and then did Rudy show that style of fighting that has made him so popular in the Pottery City. There's no doubt but the Charleroi Bulldog is going back fast, unless he was holding something back from local fans last night. Rudy was content to let Lyle do the leading for a time.

Rudy Wins 4 Rounds.

We credited Rudy with four rounds, gave Lyle three and called three even. Rudy had an edge in the first two rounds when he looked much the better man and the patrons were trying to figure out how long Lyle would last. The third was even and then Lyle looked much better in the fourth as he drove a couple of good ones at Rudy and didn't take much in return.

The fifth was even but Rudy came back strong to take the sixth on a good exhibition of infighting where he piled up most of his points during the fight. Lyle captured the seventh. Ray made Rudy look bad on two or three occasions but continued to lose points in close.

The eighth was even and Lyle deadlocked the fight by shading Rudy in the ninth. The tenth stanza was fairly close but Rudy forced the going and had Lyle in a bad way toward the end.

Jimmie Moore, middleweight champion of Michigan, failed to show up for his 10-round battle with Jimmie Guthrie of Akron for some unexplained reason. Guthrie was introduced from the ring and it was announced that he would show in the next card here.

Fairweather Again.

Big Bill Fairweather, Industry bonecrusher, brought his trusty old right into action again to K. O. Hendricks of Alliance in 15 seconds of the first round. This Fairweather is rapidly becoming a most popular boy in these parts with a right hand that is faintly reminiscent of "Popeye." Both boys weighed 150.

Jimmy Massey had easy meat in Pat Moran of Alliance. Moran seemed as if he was a little in doubt as to what was going on and Massey had no trouble at all in taking all four rounds by wide margins. He hit Moran with everything but the referee. Moran, weighing 143, had two pounds on Massey.

Harry Weekley, likely-looking Alliance youth, gave Eddie Loos a bad beating for three rounds, before knocking him out in the final session of a four-round affair. Weekley had a nice left jab that Loos couldn't keep out of his face. Weekley took a nine count in the third round, but was in no trouble. Weekley weighed 118, Loos, 120.

Classy Field in Tournament

Junior Tri-State Chiefs Expect Entry List to Exceed 55 for Affair Here March 20-21.

According to the number of entries received daily by Registrar Harold J. Gallimore of the Junior Tri-State tournament which will be held here on March 20-21, basketball fans of this district are going to see some real competition.

Already such well-known teams as the Aliquippa high school aggregation coached by Nate Lippe and runners-up in the Western Pennsylvania race last year, are entered. Others include the Sharpsburgh Y. M. C. A. outfit, formerly the junior champion of the Pittsburgh district; Akron Sporting Goods, Class D champs of the Rubber City; the Washington, Pa., "Y" aggregation, which won the tourney last year and the Question Marks of East Liverpool, runners-up to the Washington quint.

Teams from Columbus, Canton, Sharon, Youngstown, Erie, New Castle, Pittsburgh, Charleston, Clarksburg, Fairmont, Steubenville and Uniontown, have also signified their intention of entering this year's tournament.

Last year 46 teams battled for the title but by the interest being shown this year, more than 55 or 60 combines are expected to be present for the first round starting Friday, March 20 at 6 p. m.

The officials of the Junior tournament have endeavored to purchase the finest awards possible for the wining teams. They went on display in the window of the Richard C. Brian Clothing store in Fifth street Tuesday. Gallimore says the demand for tickets has been so great that they will be put on sale this week at Smith's News and Brian's.

The age limit for a player in the Junior tournament is 19 and the weight limit 147 pounds.

SPORT Ramblings

By Robert Elliott

THE open season on basketball tournaments is not so far off.

Just 10 days until the second annual Junior Tri-State affair gets under way. Then one week later comes the classic of them all—the Senior Tri-State shindig when local fans will get a chance to look over some of the best collegiate talent in Ohio, West Virginia and Pennsylvania. On April 3-4 comes the first Tri-State girls' tournament, a new venture in these parts. The girls will play under boys' rules and ought to furnish some competition. This will wind up the East Liverpool cage season, or at least we hope so. Among the college teams that are expected to compete in the sixth session of the Tri-State tournament are Carnegie Tech, Wooster, Mt. Union, Geneva, Bethany and Glenville. Pick your team, mister, and may the Good Lord be with you.

One hundred and three Ohio Class A basketball teams will continue their drive for the scholastic championship of the Buckeye state next Friday and Saturday. When Saturday's last game is over there will only remain eight teams to travel to Columbus on March 20-21 for the state finals. District tournaments are being played this week-end at Dennison, Akron Goodyear, Delaware, Findlay, Portsmouth and Dayton. Just for the sake of something to do we're going to try and pick the eight survivors. Zanesville is our choice for the Dennison tourney. Canton McKinley and Lorain are picked to come through at Akron. Toledo Libbey and Galion are likely at Findlay; Columbus Central at Delaware; Portsmouth at Portsmouth and Springfield from Dayton. There's an excellent chance that not more than half of these will appear, but those eight would make a dandy tournament.

ANOTHER newspaper in Columbiana county disagrees rather violently with our recent selections of an all-county boys' cage team. He slipped one over on us by putting Blackburn of Lisbon at the first-team center post. He classed the Lisbonite as the greatest pivot man in the county this season by a large margin. Tipton of Wellsville drew down the second team position. East Liverpool was the only team in the county that failed to place a man on the first team. The first outfit forwards were W. Smith of Salem and E. Smith of East Palestine. Checkler of Wellsville and French of Salem were the guards. The second-team forwards were Beck of Salem and Bowen of East Liverpool. Sartick of Salem and Buckley of Wellsville furnished the second-team guard performers. Not a bad organization by any means.

AMATEURS COMPETE JULY 28.

By The Associated Press.

CLEVELAND, O. March 11.—Amateur golfers from the entire state will participate in qualifying rounds for northern Ohio for the national amateur tournament at the Country club here July 28, it has been announced. All Cleveland district amateurs with handicaps of four or under are eligible for the event.

Commencing about May 15, the Texas league plans to play all except Sunday games at night.

Pitchers Best In League

Two-man Staff May Be Augmented In 1931.

By ALAN GOULD, Associated Press Sports Writer.

FORT MYERS, Fla., March 11.—Age has begun to creep into the joints of the Athletics. The machine that has steam-rollered its major league baseball opposition for two straight seasons shows some signs of wear and tear, but the six main reasons for the rulership of the Philadelphians remain sound in body and spirit.

These reasons are the 68-year-old but exceedingly alert pilot, Connie Mack; Aloysius Harry Simmons, probably the greatest of present-day outfielders; James Foxx, the flogging first baseman; Gordon (Mickey) Cochrane, number 1 backstop of the major leagues; Robert Moses Grove and George Livingston Earnshaw, the two-man pitching staff.

In the absence of some of these vital cogs, such as Simmons and Earnshaw, who are training at Hot Springs, Ark., and to relieve some of the others, ambitious youngsters have been cavorting in the light blue of the A's. They may as well cavort to their heart's content now; for when the race starts next month, Mr. Mack will send out the same lineup that finished the 1930 world's series triumphant, except that Grove may be on the mound instead of Earnshaw.

Recruits Show Promise.

Aged though some of his other athletes may be, Mack's stars retain the spryness of youth. He is content to stand pat for 1931 and make a bid for three successive pennants.

Indeed, there is no reason for him to plan otherwise. Joe Heley's arm has come along slowly in spring training and Max Bishop has been laid up temporarily with a leg bruise.

The veteran keystone pair, however figured to start, although Dib Williams at short and Frank Higgins, Texas boy, at second base, have been given plenty of chance to develop. Higgins particularly shows promise.

The infield is well fortified elsewhere in reserves, with Phil Todt, late of the Red Sox, to sub for Foxx and Eric McNair as understudy for Jimmy Dykes at third. This is his fourteenth season but Jimmy still dresses, acts and chatters like a collegian.

Bing Miller, Simmons and George Haas form the outer patrol. They leave little to be desired unless it is more punch from the latter's part.

Behind the bat, Cochrane's probable relief man will be John Heving.

George (Swede) Walberg gives every indication of a return to form, in which case Mack's staff may be expanded to a "big three." Roy Mahaffey, the big right-hander who came through handsomely in his first big league season, is counted on for a regular turn. Among the rookies, 19-year-old Hank McDonald, Eddie Rommel and Texas Bill Shores will do odd pitching chores.

Judge Kenesaw M. Landis, czar of baseball, will dedicate the Beaumont, Texas, park April 28 and Galveston's stadium April 29.

Merchant Quintet Booked

Carrollton Will Oppose Barber Five Thursday.

Thursday night on the Chester city hall court the Orme Barbers will line up against the tough Carrollton Merchants. Followers of the local aggregation will remember that the Barbers met the Carrollton Collegians in the second game of the season, winning 24-14 in a hard-fought battle. Since then the Collegians have disbanded and reorganized under the Merchant banner.

Only two players on the Collegian roster were retained for the Merchants. They were Westfall and Johnson, a pair of capable forwards who caused the Barbers plenty of trouble in the first clash, the former scoring most of his team's 14 points. New members on the team are E. Scott, a center, and Shotwell and Metz, a couple of better-than-average guards. The latter two will have their hands full however trying to halt the Barber offensive.

The Merchants have captured 14 straight games against such teams as the Dover Kool Motors, New Philadelphia, Cambridge, Midvale A. C., Uhrichsville Community club and the Sunocas of St. Clairsville.

The Tonsorial combine will use a zone defense against the Carrollton quint in preparation for the Tri-State tournament which they expect to enter. The Barbers are also entered in the Penn-Ohio tourney at Youngstown on March 19-20-21.

A lineup of Glumac and Campbell, forwards, Wyant, center, and Bachtel and another regular at the guards, will start for the locals.

Officials Explain Iowa Ban

Griffith to Under-go Cross-examination Today.

By The Associated Press.

CHICAGO, March 11.—Administrative affairs of the University of Iowa were up for further investigation today.

The legislative committee conducting the inquiry planned to cross-examine Major John L. Griffith, western conference athletic commissioner, regarding the reasons for the Big Ten's severance of athletic relations with the Hawkeyes nearly two years ago.

Griffith and Amos Stagg, director of athletics at the University of Chicago, after six hours of testimony yesterday, were agreed the operation of an alumni loan fund, existance of a merchants' work fund, and failure of the registrar to sign eligibility lists, were the principal reasons for the disciplinary action. These funds were operated, Stagg and Griffith contended, with the knowledge of university authorities. Also, there was a fear that the athletic situation at Iowa was passing ino the hands of the alumni.

The so-called "belting fund," deposited in The First National bank of Iowa City, so athletes could obtain loans, was criticized by Stagg and Griffith. Cross-examination of Stagg revealed that strict interpretation of conference rules would demand that athletes deriving benefit from the fund, be declared ineligible even if they did not have knowledge of the fund's source.

Major Griffith told the committee that he understood that the money was taken from athletic receipts and deposited only as security for such notes as certain students might sign. The understanding, he said, was that the money was never to be used.

HARMAN NAMED QUAKER COACH

By The United Press.

PHILADELPHIA, March 11.—Harvey J. Harman, former University of Pittsburgh star and protege of Glenn (Pop) Warner, will be head football coach at the University of Pennsylvania during the 1932 season.

JONES FAVORS MOVIE RETAKES

By The Associated Press.

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., March 11.—Usually actors abhor retakes, but not Robert Tyre Jones, Jr.

The holder of all major golf championships halted in the midst of a retake in his second day of active work before the camera with this smiling comment:

"Retake sure, they're the best part of it.

"Many is the time I would have given a lot for the opportunity to try a shot all over again. What golfer wouldn't? That's what the retake does for you."

CORNELL AT OHIO.

ITHACA, N. Y., March 11.—Ohio State universitys baseball team will oppose Cornell university's nine at Columbus, April 22, it was announced today. Cornell's tennis teams will open its season against Ohio State, April 18, at Columbus.

The University of Wichita basketball team has been invited to play a six-game series in Mexico.

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, March 11. — The stock market turned soggy after the initial transactions today.

Allied Chemical rallied 2 points, then reacted more than 3 from the top, and recorded a new low. Eastman sold off 4 points. Auburn quickly lost a 3-point rise. Advances of a point or more were temporary in such issues as Consolidated Gas, American and Foreign Power, Westinghouse and McKeesport. New York Central sold up 2 points in expectation of the declaration of the regular dividend.

U. S. Steel, American Telephone, Air Reduction, and Byers lost a point or more.

Sterling cables opened 1-32 higher at $4.85.

GRAIN

Chicago
By The Associated Press.

CHICAGO, March 11.—With Liverpool wheat quotations showing a decided setback, grains averaged lower early today. The downturns at Liverpool were ascribed largely to weakness of Argentine markets and to selling by United States government-sponsored agencies in European continental centers. Opening unchanged to ⅝ cents lower, wheat afterward held near to the initial figures. Corn started at ⅝ to ¼ up, and subsequently tended to sag.

As she phoned for Pullman reservations, she heard a shot and found him dying on the floor with a wound in the temple. He was dead when a doctor arrived.

"When they refused to give me new cars I stole them," he said.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—The list of "members registering" with the Progressive conference today showed nine senators in addition to the five who called the meeting.

It showed 16 members of the house, including representatives of both parties.

Such a group, of welded into a working unit, would easily wield the balance of power in the congress meeting next December in which the two parties are almost evently divided.

The nine senators were: Republicans — Frazer and Nye of North Dakota; Blaine, Wisconsin, Brookhart, Iowa, and Schall, Minnesota.

Democrats — Bulkley, Ohio; Thomas, Oklahoma, and Walsh, Massachusetts.

Farmer Labor—Shipstead, Minnesota.

STATE POLICE BILL HIT BY LABOR LEADER

"Safety" Measure Denounced by Ohio Federation Secretary.

By The United Press.

COLUMBUS, O., March 11. — The "safety police" bill sponsored in the house by Representative James A. Jones, Republican, Portage county, actually is a measure to create a state police or constabulary, it was charged today after hearings on the measure.

Purposes of the measure were outlined in hearings before the house judiciary committee. Representative Jones and other proponents of the bill, in stressing the need for its enactment, said such a police force would reduce crime, prevent bank robberies, capture criminals and stop chicken theft in rural districts.

When introduced the measure was characterized as a bill for enforcement of the traffic laws.

Among the opponents of the measure, speaking before the committee, was Thomas J. Donnelly, secretary - treasurer of the State Federation of Labor, who vigorously denounced the bill and declared organized labor is "unqualifiedly opposed to a constabulary bill, an expensive, extravagant and un-American proposition."

Representative L. A. Welsh, Republican, Jefferson county, raised the question of the annual cost of the proposed police.

At least 300 officers would be needed, Welsh said. At a minimum salary of $1,800 a year, the annual payroll would be $540,000.

"Other costs, including motor equipment, barracks and supplies, would raise the total to $2,000,000 before we got started," he declared.

"This is a highway police bill," Donnelly said. "The people back of this bill don't want a safety police; they want a constabulary."

The committee postponed action on the bill and announced another hearing for next Tuesday night.

TODAY

that might change the history of the world.

However, "Providence arranges it so that the trees do not go into the heavens." Providence has, doubtless, arranged population. If India becomes big enough, the British will be driven out, and then, according to their promise, the Afghans will come down, "kill half the Hindus and make the rest slaves."

SHERIDAN'S 21-MILE was a fine performance, so was Paul Revere's, although some say it never happened quite that way. The gentleman who carried the news from "Ghent to Aix" was invented by the poet, and the Greek runner who dropped dead as he told of the great disaster is legendary.

But there is nothing uncertain about Joe Crosson's flight from Fairbanks to Point Barrow in Alaska over mountains swept by raging storms.

He carried no news of battle, but took 250,000 units of diphtheria anti-toxin to the Presbyterian Mission hospital on Point Barrow to save lives threatened by a diphtheria plague.

That ride over mountains, through clouds and the storm will compare with any in history. The American Airways Corp. is to be congratulated on supplying the plane.

MR. STIMSON, Secretary of State, will assign an assistant to study Russia for the state department. But it is announced that the state department has not changed its mind about Russia, which sounds like the late Dowager Empress of China, issuing the order: Execute this person, and give him a careful trial afterwards."

A country as great and as intelligent as the United States is supposed to be ought to be informed concerning abouther country as great as Russia. And this country should be particularly interested in the question: How it is that Russia has no employment problem and is obliged to draft a million married women to help do the work?"

Veterans, according to General Hines, administrator of veterans' affairs, probably will borrow $900,000,000 from the government, in accordance with their RIGHT to do so, between now and September.

A great part of the $900,000,000 will be devoted to paying off debts, including various installment purchases, and this ought to help prosperity.

NAVAL ACCORD TERMS OUTLINED

LONDON, March 11.—The terms of the British-Franco-Italian naval accord, transforming the London naval pact into a virtual five-power agreement, were made public today in the form of a memorandum by Arthur Henderson, the foreign secretary.

Its terms cover three outstanding considerations in the armaments situation—technical problems of European naval power are swept away; renewal of an armaments race such as led to the World war has, it is hoped been prevented; success of the world disarmament conference at Geneva next year is brought measurably closer.

ELKTON MAN ADMITS KILLING

Auto Stolen, Pittsburgh Garage Worker Slain.

By The Associated Press.

PITTSBURGH, March 11.—Detectives said today that John A. Schulkins, had confessed he killed William A. McClintock, 35, a garage attendant, after stealing an automobile from the garage two weeks ago.

Schulkins, a resident of Pittsburgh, but formerly of Elkton, O., was arrested last Friday in a cabin at Spruce Creek, near Altoona. Since his arrest he had denied he knew anything of the killing until last night, detectives said, when he made a confession after reading the Bible for two days in his cell.

The detectives said Schulkins told them he wanted the automobile so he might visit his wife at Elkton, near East Liverpool, O. He denied, they added, that he took 70 cents from McClintock's pocket.

A checkup in Elkton, O., today showed "John A. Schulkins" is not known there.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., March 11. — A trail of tracks and fingerprints was sought today by the investigators searching for the slayer of Virginia Brooks, 10, whose dismembered body was found at Camp Kearney mesa yesterday, just one month after her disappearance.

The girl's school books, evidently tossed from an automobile in a sack, with another which contained her broken body, were being examined. Newspaper clippings, which tumbled out of the burlap sack with the body were scrutinized.

EAGLES' OLD AGE PENSION PLAN OPPOSED

Ohio Business Men, Granges, Farmers Protest.

By The Associated Press.

COLUMBUS, O., March 11 —Opposition to enactment of an old age pension law, as sponsored by the Fraternal Order of Eagles, was voiced before the Ohio house of representatives insurance committee Tuesday by industrial and agricultural interests.

Among organizations opposing the bill were the Ohio Manufacturers' association, the Ohio Chamber of Commerce, the Ohio State grange, the Ohio Farm Bureau federation, and the Cincinnati Industrial association. These organizations also have registered opposition to the unemployment insurance bill also before the assembly.

W. E. Odom, representing the Cincinnati Industrial association, explained the alleged operations of the old age pension system in Australia. The system there, he said, has placed the country "in a terrible economic condition" with the government now attempting to force a cut of ten per cent in the basic wage scale.

In 1929 he said Australia with a population about the same as Ohio, had 155,196 pensioners entailing an expenditure of $52,445,000. The history of the system which has been in operation there for 20 years, Odom said has been that allowance has steadily increased and the age limit steadily lowered, increasing both the number of pensioners and the annual cost of operating the system.

All speakers in opposition contended that the old age pension system "encourages idleness and shiftlessness" and that all sorts of schemes are resorted to in order to bring persons in line for pensions. They insisted that the cost of administering the system will be oppressive on industry and taxpayers generally.

C. A. Dyer, legislative agent of the grange and farm bureau said the estimated cost of an old age pension as contemplated by the bill would be $39,850,000 annually at the age of 65 years. Dyer said advocates of the old age pension should turn their attention to securing sufficient finances for mothers' pensions and should get behind pending bills to prevent separation of aged couples in county homes and to allow poor relief outside of county homes.

M. B. Burns, Hamilton, representing the Eagles, speaking for the measure said the arguments advanced by opponents were all old and had not been substantiated by actual operation of such pension systems. He declared the manufacturers owe their workers pensions inasmuch as they have been forced out of employment in their old age through advent of machinery in industry.

The committee deferred action on the bill.

"LIAR" PASSED IN BILL FIGHT

Blows are Exchanged at Hearing On Whittemore Measure to Regulate Loans, Interest.

By The Associated Press.

COLUMBUS, O., March 11. — A fist fight occurred today when the word "liar" was passed while the house labor committee of the Ohio General Assembly was conducting a hearing on the Whittemore bill to regulate loans and provide interest charges of not more than one and one-half per cent per month.

R. E. Willing, of Ashtabula, representing small loan interests, called A. W. Geisinger, head of the state division of securities, a "liar" during an argument which followed mention of the Welsh resolution for an investigation of the securities division. Geisinger stepped toward Willing, and the latter struck him in the face. Geisinger returned the blow, and in a moment the combatants were separated by others in the room.

The committee killed the Whittemore bill by voting 5 to 4 not to recommend it for passage.

THEORY OF FOUL PLAY ABANDONED

War-bride Injured in Backward Fall While Playing Solitaire, Is Police Opinion.

LYNN, Mass., March 10.—After running down scores of "clues" police today had abandoned any theory of foul play in connection with the mysterious injuries from which Mrs. Evelyn Little, 33, war-bride and war-nurse, was found suffering when she was discovered unconscious on the floor of her apartment.

After talking with her sister and others the authorities came to the opinion that Mrs. Little fell backward from her chair while playing a game of solitaire.

Mrs. Little answered all police questions by saying she had no idea of what had happened to her.

MINE FIRES TO BURN 15 YEARS

Three Shafts Afire in Zanesville District.

By International News Service.

ZANESVILLE, O., March 4.—Three huge coal mine fires in this vicinity, the biggest of which is on the Dozer farm near Cannelville, will be "burned out" in about 15 years, it has been estimated by mining officials.

The Cannelville fire covers many acres and was first discovered on December 27, 1930, when miners returned to work following the Christmas holiday. It is expected to burn itself out as the result of removing the vein of coal by cutting through the hill.

The other mine fires are at the mouth of the mine on the Walter Burt farm near Chandlersville, and the Dunn mine on a farm adjoining the Burt farm.

More than 6,500 trucks were shipped from America to Argentina in 1930.

More than 73,000 miles in a New Ford

THE substantial worth of the new Ford is reflected in its good performance, economy and reliability. Its stamina and endurance are particularly apparent in sections where bad roads and severe weather put a heavy extra burden on the automobile.

In less than a year a new Ford Tudor Sedan was driven more than seventy-three thousand miles over a difficult route. The operating cost per mile was very low and practically the only expense for repairs was for new piston rings and a new bearing for the generator.

The car carried an average load of 1200 pounds of mail and was driven 250 miles daily. "The Ford has never failed to go when I was ready," writes one of the three mail carriers operating the car. "The starter did the trick last winter even at 34 degrees below zero. The gas runs about 20 miles per gallon. At times I pull a trailer whenever I have a bulky load."

Many other Ford owners report the same satisfactory performance. Every part has been made to endure — to serve you faithfully and well for many thousands of miles.

THE THEATER

SCREEN RECOVERING FROM HANGOVER OF MUSIC-INTOXICATION

Film Producers Now Turn To Tonic Doses of Stimulant.

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD — Recovering slowly from the aching hangover caused by its earlier music-intoxication, the screen now is turning to milder, tonic doses of the stimulant it abused during its ignorant talking youth.

IRENE DUNNE

There is no wholesale scramble to produce screen musical comedies such as flooded the market a year or two ago. Rather, efforts are being made for the logical interpolation of song numbers, not as "plugs," but at integral parts of the screen story.

Gloria Swanson's new picture, "Obey That Impulse," has song numbers, but the story is not warped to accommodate them.

In "Madame Julie," one song composed by the director, Victor Schertzinger, will be heard, likewise an important part of the story. Other musical effects, introduced naturally, will include a symphony orchestra and a jazz band.

The same director-composer's "Marcheta," to star Irene Dunne, will be typical of the "new musical."

EVERY-DAY MUSIC

Numerous other pictures are making use of dance orchestras, piano and vocal selections, as was done in "Stolen Heaven," in which an orchestra played and sang "Live for Today" during a climatic moment.

Certainly not a theme song, it was used, without interrupting the action, to emphasize the drama of two youngsters fighting for their stolen happiness.

Music that is a part of every-day life, whether it comes from radio, phonograph, dance-hall orchestra or what-not, has a place as atmosphere in talking pictures, the movie-makers now maintain.

MUSICALS UNASHAMED

Aside from such incidental use of music, there are a few pictures frankly announced as musicals, such as "Flying High," the Broadway hit, which will be screened with Bert Lahr in his original role.

M-G-M will film it, and the same company has found at last what to do with its expensive shelved revue, "The March of Time." Intended to follow the "Hollywood Revue of 1929," it was shelved with the box-office decline of musicals. Now, with a new story, portions of it will reach the screen.

And Eddie Cantor, bringing with him George Jessel to collaborate on the writing, is back again to begin on "Palmy Days," which will have its music.

STATE

Big motion picture producers advance the technicque of films, but improvements in film technique seldom result in big pictures.

Sounds like another "hen and egg" speculation, but according to Wesley Ruggles, celebrated film director, there is no question of precedence in the movie problem.

Ruggles has just finished directing the outstanding "big" production of the year, "Cimarron," now showing at the State theater. As a result of this picture he claims, five important advancements in movie technique were originated and almost immediately put into practical use.

Most important, probably, is the "beam microphone." It focusses sound rays like a big searchlight, which it somewhat resembles in appearance, focusses light rays. Only by its use could the vast mob scenes of "Cimarron" be registered in sound.

The electric perambulator for cameras, a combined dolley and hoist, noiseless and efficient, was originated for the same picture.

Richard Dix is starred as Yancey Cravat in "Cimarron." His wife, Cabra, is enacted by the distinguished stage actress, Irene Dunne, and there are many other favorites among the huge cast of thirty principal characters.

AMERICAN

If you can visualize the handsome, debonair, charming Edmund Lowe, whose screen life has been a series of pursuits of beautiful women and eventful conquests of them, evading the entreaties and enticement of the most beautiful of them all, then you get a fair conceptio nof "Don't Bet On Women," his current Fox Movietone success directed by William K. Howard, opening today at the American theater.

In the story, by William Anthony McQuire, originally tilted, "All Women Are Bad," Lowe is the handsome, well groomed man of wealth whose wife, whom he has discarded, has made him believe that all women are bad.

Then he strangely bumps into the most beautiful woman that has yet come into his life—and she is married.

CERAMIC

From New York's back streets to Florida's brilliant, sun-lighted beaches, Nancy Carroll moves in her latest starring picture, "Stolen Heaven," the Ceramic theater attraction which closes today, a picture as vivid in its contrasts, as breath-taking in its emotional climaxes, as real and as beautiful in theme as anything ever seen on the talking screen.

"Stolen Heaven" is the intriguing story of two waifs of life. It moves swiftly, surely for a definite effect, and gets it. Without a moment of static pause for explanation, it unfolds its dramatic meaning in scene after scene of forceful action. From the moment Nancy Carroll and Phillips Holmes meet in the darkness on a back street in New York, until they find the real road to happiness in the drawing room of a Cuban mansion, "Stolen Heaven" flashes and flares with movement and change.

"Stolen Heaven" is the story of Nancy Carroll and Phillips Holmes, both hopelessly mired in a large city, both seeking death as an outlet. Police are looking for Holmes who has just burglarized a factory and has the money on his person. Nancy saves him from the law. Together, they plan a last wild fling on the money Holmes has stolen, and then death together. Florida, Palm Beanch and a frenzied rush to crowd as much happiness as possible into their last few months of life. Then their money nearly gone, Holmes lays plans for the final scene. Nancy, however, gambles on their last few dollars, and wins enough money to pay back the sum Holmes' stole. Police, however, overtake them, and they flee to Cuba, assisted by a millionaire who wants to marry Nancy.

Faced with the necessity for a decision, Nancy persuades Holmes to return to the city and pay his debt to society, promising to wait for him, and their life together until the law relases him.

To be a Healthy Woman watch your Bowels!

What should women do to keep their bowels moving freely.? A doctor should know the answer. That is why pure Syrup Pepsin is so good for women. It just suits their delicate organism. It is the prescription of an old family doctor who has treated thousands of women patients, and who made a special study of bowel troubles.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is made from, fresh laxative herbs, pure pepsin and other harmless ingredients. It doesn't sicken or weaken you. No restrictions of habit or diet are necessary while taking it. But its action is thorough. It carries off the sour bile and poisonous waste. It does everything you want it to do. It is fine for children, too. They love its taste. Let them have it every time their tongues are coated or their skin is sallow.

When you've a sick headache, can't eat, are bilious or sluggish; and at the times when you are most apt to be constipated, take a little of this famous prescription (all druggists keep it ready in big bottles), and you'll know why Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the favorite laxative of over a million women!
